Our National Goddess.

We have over our national capitol, with her foot resting on a brazen globe, a big brass Goddess of Liberty, Her impudence is marked by her frown, and her blushing have blackened to bronze.

There she stands, a great, big copper-head, staring away over the country, with a frown on her handsome face, not paying the slightest bit of attention to the iniquities going on immediately under her feet.

That brass goddess is our nations deity. We issue coins and proclaim laws in her name. She pronounces all the bloody decrees. Heresiblom is bold, her ministers the furies; and as she roams southward over the broad Potowmack, and poises her figure on the sword in her hand, she symbolizes that kind of liberty which consists in the right to oppress subjugated people. She needs all the brass of her nature to be so stern. We wish we could see in that frown indignation at the cruelties in her name, but the prospect is that, until she steps down from her pedestal to drive out the vermin under her feet; until she lifts aloft that broad shield which hangs neglected by her side, and puts to some end in the field, for the first time in the history of our party conventions; the opposition must take the form of divided forces, skirmishing, which can only result in either demonstrating the overwhelming strength of Mr. Pendleton, or eliminating some man not yet thought of about whom can be gathered the voices of enthusiasm from Ocean to Ocean and the Lakes to the Gulf. Opposition to Mr. Pendleton can only be consolidated by the irreducibility of his friends. If not consolidated, but one of the alternatives just indicated seems to be within the range of possibility. In either of which results the road must be kept clear for the enthusiastic falling in of every patriot-soldier of the Republic.

When we see her weapons of offense; her handsome face marked with anger, and mark the doings under her feet, we compare her counsellors below to owls and prairie dogs, that make their holes with the rattlesnake, and, fearless of its deadly fangs, gather their store of daily food by plunder and robbery undisturbed. Our brass goddess is more impudent than bold. Her impudence is symbolized in her composition. Why should she proclaim liberty throughout the world, and the inhabitants thereof, whose brass eggs protects no one and whose sword punishes none? Liberty stands above, stern and brazen; and below are the dungeons where Woolley lives on bread and water, and Butler raves of his robbery of the telegraph offices. Is not liberty, in her noble valor, also impounding private citizens? In one sense she is. She stands awhile while it is done below, and her temple is converted into the bastiles of Colfax!

History repeats itself. Whether under the rotten regime of the Bourbons, or the absolute rule of a fanatical party, the dead is the same. A speaker's warrant sent Wilkes to the tower. The King's mandate imprisoned bold members of Parliament. Lettres de cachet fluttered about freely. Maids of honor impeded whom they would. It was just like Butler. Butler gets blank orders to sign. That the State of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, respectively, shall not be admitted to representation in the Senate of the United States, and Vice President of the United States, and other electoral votes shall be taken from them, is the exact purpose of the Resolution "not to put too fine a point upon it." The resolution is so carefully worded as to show that it was not intended to do this.

That the man who took a bond of fate converted it into a five-twenty.

The social evil in Savannah is as black as Radicalism.

Grant for a good general is nothing in particular.

A BURNING SHAME.—Ross was burned in effigy in Kansas.

California's wheat gives it the title of the floury land.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

NATURE IS THE GREAT PHYSICIAN.

This is now admitted, by the medical profession, as a fundamental principle of health science. It is widely provided by the human economy that when anything is wrong the physical system, the means for curing the body, are ready to bear to expel the disease. The great aim, therefore, is to strengthen the natural powers. This has been kept in view by the skillful compendiums of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which are now well known to all the organs of the body. The effect of this medicine upon the stomach, the liver and the kidneys, is prompt and decisive. The patient who is wise enough to quit drugging and try the BITTERS, soon feels as if he were in the new world again. The BITTERS are a MIRACLE AGENT.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Relief for Renegade Rebels in Georgia.

The RESPONSIBILITY OF SENATORS.

By Telegraph to the Democrat.]
Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Mr. Wilson introduced a bill to remove the political disabilities from certain ex-slaves, and to prohibit them from voting in the Legislature, and other officers. Referred to the committee on the subject.

M. T. Taylor presented a bill granting land to the Iowa and Minnesota Railroad Company. Referred to the committee on Finance.

SENATORS AND THE VOTE ON IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. Sumner offered resolutions, which were placed on the calendar and ordered to be referred to the appropriate committees, for the purpose of having the Senate for their votes on impeachment.

A proposition has been put forth to the effect that the vote of a Senator on an impeachment is so far different in character from that of a member of the House, that the Senate have no right to censure and expel him.

Whereas, Pretensions, if not dispositions, of the Senate to interfere with the freedom of judgment which belongs to the people on all that is done by their representatives; the time, and to decide the constitutionality of the people in cases of impeachment, it is a court in the exercise of its judicial power, and the Senate cannot claim that the Senate, but the Supreme Court, when it has undertaken to act on questions essentially political, may, if it chooses, make a final judgment; that the decision of this high tribunal in support of slavery has been openly received by the Senate, and that the same, instead of being a good omen, was an evil omen, and that the Senate, in its action, had no right to be the first to offer several amendments.

During Mr. Woods' speech, Mr. Price, representing the People's party, said that it was feasible to do the difficultly that was, since the discovery of gold in California, the production of which had created an enormous tax on the people, and for the eventual payment of the public debt. He then proposed that the tax on the production of gold in California should be $1,000,000, and the cash production was only $88.

Mr. H. C. Baird spoke and opposed the bill for the collection of the whisky tax, and detailed a plan of his own, which he said would be better than the Niblick, while he would make no sacrifices to the bill, did not concur in the section making the tax on distilled spirits an independent department, and proposed a nominal duty, but no hurt. The rest of the train was closed.

Mr. Wood, in reply, referred to Mr. Baird's speech, and said that the bill in California yielded $1,300,000, and the cash production was only $88.

Mr. H. C. Baird spoke and opposed the bill for the collection of the whisky tax, and detailed a plan of his own, which he said would be better than the Niblick, while he would make no sacrifices to the bill, did not concur in the section making the tax on distilled spirits an independent department, and proposed a nominal duty, but no hurt. The rest of the train was closed.

It was ruled by the President (there being no dissenting voice) that the committee of correspondence, as far as they receive charters, &c., from other cities, deposit them in the Clerk for safe keeping, and that he be requested to keep a record of them, to be used for the use of members of the Convention.

On motion, the Convention adjourned to meet again on Monday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock.

At: J. M. VAUGHAN, Clerk.
At: CHAS. J. CLARKE, Ass't Ckpt.
